

January 26, 2022

Letter of Reference for Jerry Janes:

Jerry Janes has been a distinguished educator in the teaching field for the better part of the last twenty years. He has taught coursework at both the junior college and high school level in the areas of technology, English, and Spanish. While doing so, he enrolled in the Transitional Certification Program (TCP) at the University of Nebraska at Kearney in order to obtain his Nebraska teaching certification after having earned the same in Kansas, Wyoming, and South Dakota.

Through his involvement with TCP, I have come to know Jerry over the last ten years as a professional that perseveres through the challenges of the profession. His skill set particularly in instructional technology development makes him well-positioned to help both students and faculty learn and teach in the increasingly digital environment of education.

Thank you for considering Jerry Janes for your open position.

Wendy L. McCarty, Ed. D.
Director, Transitional Certification Program
Professor, Teaching Education Department, UNK