

Two Earn Prestigious Scholarship

Recently two Stanton County High seniors, Kenny Butler and Cory Carruth, competed for and were awarded scholarships to the prestigious Radio/TV program of study at Butler Co. Community College in El Dorado, Kansas.

The scholarships include full tuition and books and are good as long as they stay in the program. Outside of taking Radio/TV courses, they are expected to participate in various television, film and radio production projects. They will learn and get hands-on experience with all aspects of the industry. Many students in the program have internships with the Wichita CBS and FOX affiliates and as a result rarely does one graduate the two-year program without offers of employment in-hand.

Kenny and Cory toured the campus, met with staff and administrators, saw the Radio/TV studios and visited with other students. They then competed with many students from all across Kansas, vying for two of only eighteen available scholarships. They presented their ePortfolios, resumes created and showcasing the wide variety of video projects they developed this year in Mr. Janes' advanced media In Production class.

The final decision was made by the department head. Two SCHS students coming away with these awards says a great deal about their talent and work ethics as well as the rigor and relevance of the Computer Technology program at SCHS. Special thanks goes to Mr. LaFay for his facilitation of their trip to BCCC. Pictured left to right - Mr. Janes, Cory Carruth and Kenny Butler.
